No microtransactions. Roblox does not have any in-game purchases or microtransactions, meaning that you can play as much as you want without worrying about being charged each time. This works very well as the developers have a different way to monetize their system - which we'll discuss further on into this review.

They have also created a website called ROBLOX Studios which allows users to create and upload their own videos to YouTube in order to advertise their videos as well as doing tasks that can be made money such as editing videos, building websites, etc.[47]

Roblox is involved in a lawsuit concerning child safety on the Internet. On September 17, 2010, two brothers filed a lawsuit in the United States District Court, Southern District of California against Roblox Corporation and its founder and CEO David Baszucki. The suit alleged that the defendants failed to protect their nine- and thirteen-year-old sons from inappropriate content on Roblox that resulted in emotional distress. The suit also accuses the company of negligence for failure to monitor potentially harmful content and failure to institute parental monitoring measures. The case is known as "McDonald v. Roblox".

In August 2017, a former employee posted a blog post detailing the company's "toxic" work culture and poor working conditions. The employee claimed that she was fired after speaking out about these issues and later filed a wrongful termination lawsuit against the company as well as several co-workers associated with her firing. The suit, which for the most part was dismissed, claimed that former CEO David Baszucki played an integral role in her firing as he forced the team to "ignore basic standards of professionalism". It also cited him for saying that "female workers in [his] office and in the tech industry were 'annoying' and should not serve in a high-ranking position."
