If you play "Robloxian life" long enough, you'll notice that the costs really add up. For every point someone wins, the game will cost the player between $3-$10 depending on how many points are needed to win a double prize. Although this is not completely true for all games, it does affect most games so players can expect to spend a lot of money just for some points or winning prizes.

In February 2013, Roblox was in violation of Terms of Service that required them to have a minimum age requirement for players.[72] In December 2016, ROBLOX temporarily suspended monetizing accounts and purchases of game currency within their website after it was discovered that many users had been cheated out of money. It is known that they worked with third-party vendors to purchase a limited amount of Robux for specific accounts.[73]

Also, if you don't want people to actually see your ingame character with free robux, then this is the only way that I have found so far.

In January 2013, the Chinese government started an investigation into various MMORPGs to determine whether the genre was suitable for children.[58] The same year, Sigaty discussed the possibility of a Battle.net-like service for World of Warcraft.[59]

When it comes to this premium feature, the player does not have to pay for membership in the Builder's Club (which is free) or spend money on Robux or Builders Club credits at any point during gameplay. All they have to do is purchase the premium feature and be in a Builders Club account.
